The Future of Health Care

University Physicians Healthcare, in partnership with the UA Health Sciences Center and Pima County, is building our community's next academic medical campus. The complex is being developed on 70 acres of land surrounding the existing hospital and includes new specialty medical treatment centers, as well as advanced teaching and state-of-the-art research facilities.

The Kino Campus will dramatically expand the area's treatment, teaching and research programs. UPH and the University of Arizona will eventually be able to treat nearly twice as many patients with twice as many physicians, teach two times the number of medical students and double their ground-breaking research programs.

UPH Hospital at Kino Campus and the future academic campus will advance the quality of medical care for the people of Southern Arizona and provide a platform for new economic development in our community.
